

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0073] A method for programming a key for selectively allowing access to at least one enclosure having a lock controlled by a lock controller is disclosed. The method comprises: detecting the key; identifying the key by a static key number and a key user; identifying the at least one authorized enclosure corresponding to the identified key; loading the at least one authorized enclosure identification onto the key; generating a plurality of date sensitive key access codes; and loading the plurality of date sensitive key access codes in the key.

MK/dlm.1

T:\Client Documents\NORTH\452a\NORTH452A-PatApp4.wpd